INTRODUCTION.

THE purpose of this Introduction is to present in an accurate and succinct form, the initiative of the discovery and settlement, and the introduction of religious and civilized customs and laws into New Netherland and New York — particularly in their bearings upon the status of the marriage question anterior to and during a part of the period covered by these Records. In doing so it will be easily perceived that the task imposed is beset with doubts which learned historians, eminent clergy, and erudite counselors in law have but partially dispelled. Has the want of recorded facts caused this difficulty? or have the customs and laws been but dimly outlined in history?

DISCOVERY AND SETTLEMENT.

THE discovery by HENDRICK HUDSON, the commander of the ship Half Moon, in September, 1609, of the river which now bears his name, was followed by fourteen years filled with adventurous enterprise and frequent visits to the isle of the Manhattans; and although trading posts had been established, and at least one ship's crew had spent a winter (1613-14) on its shores (during which JEAN VIGNE, or VINGE, the first male child of Europeans in New Netherland, was born),¹ no attempt at colonization had proved successful till 1623, when the charter of the West India Company went fully into effect. It is true this charter was finally signed on the third of June, 1621, but it did not go fully into effect till the twenty-first of June, 1623, when a mutual agreement was entered into between the Managers and Principal Adventurers of the Company, with the approbation of the High and Mighty Lords States General of Holland.² The completion of this agreement was immediately followed by the most active and energetic efforts to a permanent agricultural settlement and colonization in what was first called New Netherland in 1614. There had, however, in March, 1623, under the quasi authority of the West India Company, sailed from the Texel the ship New Netherland with CORNELIUS JACOBSEN MAY on board as Superintendent of the expedition, who became subsequently Director General of the Colony, and thirty Walloon families. MAY had visited New Netherland in

1614 and 1620.¹ This vessel arrived at the Isle of Manhates early in May, and was followed by the ship Unity (Eendragt?), commanded by ADRIEN JORIS. This is said to have been the first vessel sent out by the West India Company after its complete organization.² It contained several families, and during the voyage there were four couples married. By whom were these couples married? If by the commander, ADRIEN JORIS, was the act by virtue of his office as Director General,³ or as a Civil Magistrate on the high seas? The charter of the West India Company invested its possessors with extraordinary powers. They could in the name of the States General make contracts with princes and natives of the countries comprehended within the limits of its charter, build forts, appoint and discharge governors, soldiers, and public officers; administer justice, and promote trade. The Director General and his Council were invested with all powers judicial, legislative, and executive—subject, some supposed, to appeal to Holland. The will of the Company expressed in their instructions, or declared in their marine or military ordinances, was to be the law in New Netherland, excepting in cases not especially provided for, when the Roman Law, the Imperial Statutes of Charles V., the edict, resolutions, and customs of the Fatherland, were to be received as the paramount rule of action.⁴ Of the thirty or more families who came out in these vessels many were Walloons from the south of France, domiciled there by reason of past persecution. Of the Reformed Protestant religious belief, frugal in their habits, many were tradesmen, and possessed of that fortitude and daring which the age and circumstances required to lay a successful foundation for the future metropolis of the New World. What were their names? The student of history will find, in searching these Marriage and Baptismal Records, little difficulty in giving a satisfactory answer, in many instances, to this inquiry. The leading facts of their adventure has been told by one who was a participator of their trials and privations, who in 1680 was then seventy-four years old, and whose posterity then numbered one hundred and forty-five souls.⁵ CATELYNA TRICO, the wife of JORIS JANSEN DE RAPPALJE, states that “as soon as they came to Mannatans, now called N: York, they sent Two families and six men to hartford River, & Two families & 8 men to Delaware River [four miles below the present city of Philadelphia] and 8 men they left att N: Yorke to take Possession, and y^e Rest of y^e Passengers went wth y^e Ship up as far as Albany which they then Called fort Orange When as y^e Ship came as farr as Sopus which is ½ way to Albanie; they lightened y^e Ship wth some boats y^l left there by y^e Dutch that had

Yorke where she lived afterwards for many years and then came to Long Island where she now lives.”¹ The history of this ancient and remarkable woman, together with that of her husband, JORIS JANSEN RAPPALJE, and their family has been briefly traced by the aid of an original family record, and the Records of the Dutch Church in New York, by one whose labors in the field of family history are worthy of the warmest admiration.²

In December, 1624, which was after the formal installation of CORNELIUS JACOBSEN MAY as Director General, ADRIEN JORIS returned to Holland and reported “all was in good condition” in New Netherland. He brought back a valuable cargo of furs, which yielded, on public sale, to the West India Company twenty-eight thousand guilders. This stimulated the confidence of the Company in their adventures, and led to renewed efforts towards developing the capacity of the country for cultivation and production, and in the spring of 1625, one of the members of its Board of Directors, PETER EVERTSEN HULST, undertook to convey to the Colony, at his own risk, such necessary articles as should be offered for the purpose. Two ships were provided, and loaded with cargoes consisting of one hundred and three head of cattle, of which there were horses, cows, sheep, and swine, all well provided for on shipboard — almost as well as on shore. He added a third ship to the expedition, laden with all sorts of seed, ploughs, and agricultural implements, to carry out more effectively the designs contemplated in the enterprise. The Company also fitted up a vessel on their own account, which carried out six families with their household furniture, and also several unmarried people, so that forty-five newcomers were added to the Colony. The expedition was successful, the vessels all arriving safely before July. The Colony had now increased to two hundred souls.¹

On the ninth of January, 1626, the Sea Mew, Captain ADRIËN JORIS, commander, sailed from Holland with PETER MINUIT on board, one of the deacons of the Walloon Church of Wesel, in Westphalia. He had been appointed Director General by the Company, to succeed WILLIAM VER HULST. This vessel arrived at Manhates, on the fourth of May. The ship Arms of Amsterdam, in a few weeks followed the Sea Mew, and arrived at the Manhates on the twenty-seventh of July. On the twenty-third of September following, she sailed down the bay of the River Mauritius on her return to Amsterdam, in Holland, where she arrived on the fourth of November, 1626, laden with the samples of the summer harvest, consisting of wheat, rye, barley, oats, buckwheat, canary-seed, beans, flax, and also beaver skins and furs, valued at more than thirty-eight thousand guilders. She conveyed the news of the purchase of Manhattan Island from the natives, soon after the 27th of July, 1626, with goods of the value of sixty guilders (or twenty-four dollars of our currency), and that the Colony was in a prosperous state, and the soil was fruitful, and wives of the settlers had borne some children.² Who were these mothers? and what were the names of some of the children? Here again, in these Records of the Dutch Church may be found the answer.

CHURCH ORGANIZED.

DURING the summer of 1626, the carpenter of the colony, FRANÇOIS MOLEMAECKER (Francis the mill-maker) was employed in building a horse-mill, with a spacious room above to serve for a place of worship; and a tower was to be added in which the Spanish bells captured at Porto Rico the year before, by the West India Company's fleet, were intended to be hung.³ Here for two years either SEBASTIAN JANSEN KROL (CROL) or JAN HUYGHEN, "Krank-besoeckers," "Zieken-troosters," or Consolers of the Sick, according to the custom of the Fatherland read on Sundays to the congregation assembled "some text out of the Scriptures together with the Creads." Until a somewhat recent period, this custom was kept up in the Reformed Dutch churches in this city. Here in April, 1628, Dom. JONAS MICHAËLIUS organized the first church. He and his wife and three children (two of them daughters) sailed from Holland on the twenty-fourth of January, and arrived at Manhattan on the seventh of April, 1628. His wife died seven weeks after his arrival. Writing under date of the eleventh of August, 1628, he says:

"We have first established the form of a church (gemeente); and as Brother BASTIAEN CROEL very seldom comes down from Fort Orange, because the directorship of that fort and the trade there is committed to him, it has been thought best to choose two Elders for my assistance and for the proper consideration of all such ecclesiastical matters as might occur, intending the coming year, if the Lord permit, to let one of them retire, and to choose another in his place from a double number first lawfully presented by the congregation. One of those whom we have now chosen is the Honorable Director himself [PETER MINUIT], and the other is the store-keeper of the Company, JAN HUYGHEN, his brother-in-law, persons of very good character, as far as I have been able to learn; having both been formerly in office in the church, the one as Deacon and the other as Elder, in the Dutch and French churches, respectively, at Wesel.

We have had at the first administration of the Lord's Supper full fifty communicants — not without great joy and comfort for so many — Walloons and Dutch; of whom, a portion made their first confession of the faith before us, and others exhibited their church certificates. Others had forgotten to bring their certificates with them, not thinking that a church would be formed and established here; and some, who brought them, had lost them unfortunately in a general conflagration, but they were admitted upon the satisfactory testimony of others to whom they were known and also upon their daily good deportment, since we cannot observe strictly all the usual formalities in making a beginning under such circumstances.

We administer the Holy Sacrament of the Lord once in four months, provisionally until a larger number of people shall otherwise require. The Walloons and French have no service on Sundays, otherwise than in the Dutch language, of which they understand very little. A portion of the Walloons are going back to the fatherland, either because their years here are expired or also because some are not very serviceable to the Company. Some of them live far away and could not come on account of the heavy rains and storms, so that it was neither advisable nor was it possible to appoint any special service for so small a number with so much uncertainty. Nevertheless the Lord's Supper was administered to them in the French language, and according to the French mode, with a preceding discourse, which I have before me in writing, as I could not trust myself extemporaneously.

I keep myself as far as practicable within the pale of my calling, wherein I find myself sufficiently occupied. And although our small consistory embraces at the most — when Brother CROEL is down here — not more than four persons, all of whom, myself alone excepted, have also public business to attend to, I still hope to separate carefully the ecclesiastical from the civil matters which occur, so that each one will be occupied with his own subject. And though many things are mixti generis, and political and ecclesiastical persons can greatly assist each other, nevertheless the matters and offices tending together must not be mixed but kept separate, in order to prevent all confusion and disorder."¹

On the nineteenth of August, 1628, two ships sailed from Manhattan for Holland, one the Three Kings, commanded by Captain JAN JACOBSON, and the other the Arms of Amsterdam, commanded by Captain ADRIEN JORIS, the first Director General in 1623. These ships were laden with valuable cargoes of ship timber, furs, and other products of the country, the aggregate value of which to the West India Company, according to Wassenaer, exceeded sixty-one thousand guilders. They conveyed the intelligence that the Colony at Fort Amsterdam had been increased, by reason of hostilities among the Indians, by the removal of the families of the settlers who had been residing at Fort Orange, South River, Verhulsten Island, and Fort Nassau, and that "their Colony at Manhattan now numbered two hundred and seventy souls, including men, women, and children." Many of these were Walloon families—the names of some of whom we find upon these Records, among which are DEFOOREST, DE LA MONTAGNE, DE TROU, or TRUEX, DU FOUR, LA NOY, LESQUIR, RAPPALJE, VINJE, etc., etc. It was also reported that the colonists subsisted chiefly by their farming. "Their winter corn had turned out very well; while the summer grain, being prematurely ripened by the excessive heats, was very meagre. But the cattle and beasts which had been sent from Holland three years before, had thriven, and everything wore an air of progress and improvement."¹ The fort which was commenced in 1626, under the supervision of KRYN FREDERYCKE was completed with four bastions and a facing of stone, and the settlers were comfortably domiciled in their huts and houses, built mostly of wood and situated outside of the walls of the fort.

We have now reached a period when it can be said that the settlement and colonization of New Netherland at Fort Amsterdam had become permanently fixed. Let us now turn to the history of some of the customs and laws that governed its inhabitants.

MARRIAGE.

AND here on the threshold of our inquiries we are met with doubts arising from want of written contemporaneous ordinances or recorded customs in our colonial annals. To determine what were the essential requisites of marriage, and who performed the ceremony, from 1623 to 1639, at which latter date the earliest form is recorded, we must refer briefly to collateral history. In January, 1654, the Director General, and the Council which was instituted in 1626, by MINUIT under the authority of the West India Company, called the attention of the magistrates of Gravesend, Long Island, by letter,² to irregularities in the customs of marriage which were

“in direct contradiction to both the Civil and Ecclesiastical Law of the United Netherlands, and also all other colonies within this Province,” and to the fact that the following ordinance had been enacted :

ORDINANCE OF THE DIRECTOR AND COUNCIL OF NEW NETHERLAND
REGULATING THE PUBLICATION OF BANS OF MATRIMONY. Passed
19 January, 1654.

The Director General and Council of New Netherland,

To all who hear or see these presents read, Greeting make known.

That we understand and are certainly informed by the report of our Fiscal and others as well as by letters from Gravesend, dated 18 January, 1654, that the Magistrates there have presumed and undertaken publicly to post notices of Marriage in regard to persons both of whom are, and for a long time have been domiciliated in and about this city of New Amsterdam, far beyond the district of the aforesaid village, and whereas such is in direct contradiction to both the Civil and Ecclesiastical Law of the United Netherlands, which, not only the abovementioned Magistrates of Gravesend, but also all other Colonies within this Province, are by contract and oath bound to observe ; Therefore, the abovementioned Director General and Council order and notify the aforesaid Magistrates of Gravesend and all others within the Province, to annul such posting of intentions of Marriage, and on sight hereof to withdraw the same, and in all cases to proceed with and confirm no such Marriages, either privately or publicly, before and until such persons, according to Netherland style, have entered and received their bans and proclamations of marriage where they are dwelling and have resided the last years.

Thus done in the Assembly of the Director and Council of New Netherland, this 19 January. A^o 1654, New Amsterdam.¹

The irregularity here complained of was that of the publication of bans in the village of Gravesend, I. I., when the parties contracting were domiciled in New Amsterdam. The Custom and Law of the United Netherlands or Fatherland were, according to the eminent Dutch historian, VAN LEUWEN, “that the persons who may contract a marriage must be young men above the age of fourteen years, and young women above the age of twelve years, and who are not insane, or imbecile, or idiotic.” Accordingly after 1496, it was provided that no marriage should be held to have been completed until after three publications of bans in the churches or before the Court Justice, according to the rule and order prescribed on the subject by the Political Ordinances.² Comment on Grotius, Introduction, 1. 5 : “The essential requisites of a marriage with us are as follows: All persons who desire to marry must appear before the Court of Justice, or minister of the church of their place of abode, where they have had their last fixed residence for a year and a day, and there request the publication of bans on three Sundays or market days, in the church, or court house, or other place where the court is held, so that those who wish to raise any objections may do so in the mean time on pain of forfeiting their right to object." *Vide Ord. Van Huwelk's Zaken of the town of Amsterdam, Art. I.*¹: Bans of marriage were not granted to young men under 25, and young women under 20, without proof of the voluntary consent of parents or the survivor of them is given.¹

And still another irregularity arising, in 1658 the following law was enacted:

ORDINANCE OF THE DIRECTOR GENERAL AND COUNCIL OF NEW NETHERLAND TO OBLIGE PARTIES TO MARRY AFTER THE PUBLICATION OF THEIR BANS. Passed 15 January, 1658.

Whereas the Director General and Council of New Netherland not only are informed, but have even seen and remarked, that some persons, after the proclamation and publication, for the third time, of their Bans or Intentions of Marriage, do not proceed further with the solemnization of their Marriage as they ought, but postpone it from time to time, not only weeks, but some months, which is directly contrary to, and in contravention of the good order and custom of our Fatherland, wherein being willing to provide in order to prevent the mischiefs and irregularities which will flow therefrom;

Therefore the Director General and Council aforesaid do hereby ordain that all published persons, after three Proclamations have been made and no lawful impediment occurs, shall cause their Marriages to be solemnized within one month at furthest, after the last Proclamation, or within that time, appear and show cause where they ought, for refusing; and that on pain of forfeiting Ten guilders for the first week after the expiration of the aforesaid month, and for the succeeding weeks 20 guilders for each week, until they have made known the reason for refusing.²

The enforcement of these ordinances, owing to the cosmopolitan character of the inhabitants, was beset with many difficulties; but passing these by, let us ascertain who it was that solemnized the marriages which occurred during the period before mentioned. A strong point in the movement of the Reformation in the sixteenth century was the substitution of the civil for the ecclesiastical ceremonies of Marriage. Especially did the Puritans who sought refuge in Holland declaim against the performance of marriage ceremonies by priests, as usurpations of the rights of the State, by the Church, and also as savoring of the Papistic belief in the sacramental character of the relation. We have seen that the custom of the United Netherlands was for its performance by a magistrate. The earliest instance of such, in these parts, was that of the second marriage of Governor EDWARD WINSLOW, in Plymouth Colony, in 1621.

Governor WILLIAM BRADFORD, of Plymouth Colony, says, 'under date of May 12 [1621], "was y^e first marriage in this place [Edward Winslow to Susannah White, widow of William White who died on the twenty-first of February, 1621] which, according to y^e laudable Custome of y^e Low-Cuntries in which they had lived, was thought most requisite to be performed by the magistrate, as being a civill thing, upon which many questions aboute inheritance doe depend, with other things most proper to their cognizans, and most Consonante to y^e Scripturs, Ruth 4. and no wher found in y^e gospell to be layed on y^e ministers as a part of their office. 'This decree of law about marriage was published by y^e Stats of y^e Low-Cuntries An^o 1590. That those of any religion, after lawfull and open publication, coming before y^e magistrats in y^e Town or Stat-house, were to be orderly (by them) married one to another.' Petets Hist., fol. 1029."² And practiss hath continued among, not only them but hath ben followed by all y^e famous Churches of Christ in these parts to this time An^o 1646.

EDWARD WINSLOW who was first married in Leyden on 16th May, 1618, and who was Governor of Plymouth Colony in 1633, in his examination before the commission over which Archbishop Laud presided, to inquire into the troubles in Plymouth and Massachusetts Colonies says, "that having been called to place of magistracie he had married some, and further told their lord^{ps} y^t marriage was a civile thinge, & he found no wher in y^e word of God y^t it was tyed to minstre. Again, they were necessitated so to doe, having for a long time togeather at first no minister; besides it was no new-thing, for he had been so married himself in Holland by y^e magistrats in their Statt-house."³ The necessity here mentioned, we have seen, existed in like manner in the early settlement of New Netherland.

In 1641 Governor RICHARD BELLINGHAM, who was the last surviving patentee of the Colony, married himself to PELFLOPE PELHAM, without publication of bans, notwithstanding the Statute of 1639 of the Colony declared that the intentions of the parties should be published three times, in as many days, where the parties lived. "The great inquest presented him for breach of the order of the Court, and at the Court following, in the 4th month, the Secretary called him to answer the prosecution. But he not going off the bench, as the manner was, and but few of the magistrates present, put it off to another time, intending to speak with him privately, and with the other magistrates about the Case, and accordingly he told him the reason why he did not proceed, viz.: being unwilling to command him to go off the bench, and yet not thinking it fit he should sit as a judge, when he was by law to answer as an offender. This he took ill, and said he would not go off the bench, except he were commanded."¹

And still again we find where it is said: On the fourth of August, 1647, "there was a great marriage to be solemnized in Boston. The bridegroom being of Hingham, Mr. Hubbard's church, he was procured to preach and came to Boston to that end. But the magistrates, hearing of it, sent to him to forbear. The reasons were: first, for that his spirit had been discovered to be adverse to our ecclesiastical and civil government, and he was a bold man, and would speak his mind; second, we were not willing to bring in the English custom of ministers performing the solemnity of marriage."²

It was not till 1692 that the Massachusetts Province laws provided that the marriage ceremonies might be performed by ministers.³

The earliest recorded instance of a marriage contract found in the Colonial Annals of this State is that of JAN JACOBSEN and MARITJE PIETERS, found in the New York Colonial Manuscripts, vol. i., page 153, for the translation of which we are indebted to the courtesy of Mr. George R. Howell, the present Archivist of the State, and which we here present. It bears date, fifteenth of August, 1639.

In the name of God, amen, Be it known unto all men that on the 15th August in the year 1639, before me Cornelis van Tienhoven, Secretary residing in New Netherland on the behalf of the Incorporated West India Company, and the undersigned witnesses, appeared the worthy Jan Jacobsen from Vrelant, future bridegroom assisted by Maritje Peters from Copenhagen, his future bride, on the other part, and they the appearers declared that they had mutually resolved, engaged and agreed to enter together the holy state of matrimony, and that under the following nuptial contract, praying the Almighty God that his divine Majesty would be pleased to bless their future marriage and let it redound to his honor.

First, in regard to the property which he, the bridegroom, shall leave behind, in case he come to die, whether movable or immovable, or such as may rightfully belong to him, it shall belong in free propriety to Marritje Peters aforesaid, without any of Jan Jacobsen's blood relations having any claim thereto. On the other hand, if Marritje Peters, the future bride, first happen to die, Jan Jacobsen shall, in like manner, own all her means and goods, whether movable or immovable, in free propriety, without his giving any account thereof to any of her blood relations. Provided always that he, the bridegroom, or she, the bride, aforesaid, which

The earliest recorded marriage, and which antedates the Records of the Dutch Church in New York, is that of THOMAS DE CONINC and MARRITJE FRANS VAN BEETS, and bears date 22 Septem., 1639. It will be found in N. Y. Colonial Manuscripts, Vol. iv., p. 50. and is as follows (we give both the original and translation as furnished by Mr. Howell) :

Op 22 Septem [1639].

Thomas de Coninc and Marritje Frans van Beets appeared in court and requested to be legally united in marriage.

The above named persons were therefore this day at their request united in holy wedlock in court at Fort Amst^m.

From 1664 to 1683 the Colony of New York was governed by a code known as the Laws of the Duke of York. This code was published at Hemsted, on Long Island, March 1st, Anno Domini 1664. The following is the ordinance relating to Marriages :

Whereas by the Law of England no Marriage is Lawfully Consummated without a Minister whose office it is to join the parties in Matrimony after the Banes thrice published in the Church or a Licence first had and obtained from some person thereunto Authorized, All which formality cannot be duly practiced in these parts.

Yet to the end that a decent rule therein may be preserved It is Ordained that from henceforth the names and surnames of each Party who sue for Marriage shall be publiquely read in their Parish Church or place of usuall Meeting, where they both then Inhabit three severall Lords days Successively.

And where no Church or Meeting place shall happen to bee, a publication in writing shall be first fourteen Days before Marriage upon three doors of each parish whereof the parties inhabit (viz.) one on the Constables the other two upon any two Doors of the Overseers of the Parrish Unless they produce a Lycence from the Governour in both which Cases, and not otherwise, it shall be Lawfull for any Minister or for any Justice of Peace to joyne the Parties in Marriage. Provided that the said Parties do purge themselves by Oath before the Minister or Justice that they are not under the Bonds of Matrimony to any other Person Living, and if it shall be proved, that either or both of the Parties are perjured, and thereby attain a Double Marriage for the said perjury the party or parties offending shall be boared through the tongue with a red hot Iron and moreover proceeded against as in Case of Adultery is provided; But if either Party be approved Innocent as to him or her Self and Ignorant of the others wicked fraud the innocent Person shall recover damage against the nocent; and be Sett at Liberty as if no such Marriage had been made.¹

We find numerous cases recorded in the published Colonial Documents of this State, which illustrate particular deviations from the Customs and Laws in force at various periods, but the limited space at our command prevents their citation.

The Marriage and Baptismal Records of the Reformed Dutch Church in New York are at the present time in the custody of the Consistory of the Collegiate Church. As we now find them, they are a copy to 1682 of a previous record, not now known to exist, made by Domine Henricus Selÿns, probably soon after his second installment as minister of the church in 1682. These Records, to a certain extent, are admitted as evidence in courts of this country² and in England.³ In the case of Jackson vs. King, 5 COWEN, 236, sworn copies of entries of baptisms and marriages in the Records of the Reformed Dutch Church in the city of New York, were admitted to prove those facts — see 5 PETERS, 470; 6 BINNEY, 416; so in the Lauderdale Peerage Claim, tried in the House of Lords of England, in 1885, sworn copies of these records were offered by learned counsel, from this city, and were admitted in evidence.

The expense of the transcript from which these Records are printed was defrayed by the late Stephen Whitney Phoenix, whose love for the city of his birth was only equaled by his noble generosity. It is to his memory that this volume is dedicated.

POSTSCRIPT.

The greatest care has been taken in transcribing the Records here presented, and when we inform the reader that the transcript was made by the late Rev. A. H. Bechthold,* a native of Amsterdam, and pastor of the Holland Reformed (Dutch) Church of New York City, and that the verification was made by the distinguished antiquarian and author, the late Hon. Teunis C. Bergen, and the learned historian, the late James Riker, Esq., it will be seen that no pains have been spared to present them in as accurate a form as possible. Nevertheless it cannot be expected that no errors have crept into so difficult, and oftentimes so obscure, and important a work. The reader is requested to take note of the following
